

The Politics of Malamute Breeding

Any, and all, or some, similarities, approximations and/or possible allusions to existing and/or real and/or imagined people and/or animals is purely coincidental and/or accidental ... really ... honest.

Then again if you 'see' something, then, perhaps, there is a grain of truth to be seen in it.

Malamute Breeder Fascism - It is all about power, prestige and the primacy of their point of view. A seemingly laissez-faire 'malamutism', if you will and if such a thing can be envisioned. To the Malamute Fascist health issues be damned, all lines have something and its go big or go home! Nothing a little surgery can't fix! Big deal! They ask, "What's with all this morality and ethics anyway, that's for losers!" The object, for the Fascist, is to win. To justify it they say it's the way the world works and you gotta expect it, so deal with it. To them that is natural and normal. As long as it LOOKS like a great Malamute what does it matter how good the innards and the brain are? To the Fascist there are BIG rewards IF it comes out right and they can coerce, co-opt, conspire and even frighten everyone else (even God and the angels) into believing the same as they. The infallible God, the AKC (or CKC) and its angels, the Judges, who struggle and chat and compete, re-affirm and validate the Fascists truth, so, therefore, it must be! All the stars and planets are in alignment, a celestial, if not angelic, conjunction in an occult sort of way. Just the way they like it! THEY are the CHOSEN ones and all others produce insignificance and, as such, may as well stay home!!

Malamute Breeder Fundamentalism - Theirs is the one and only true Mal strain certified by the First Malamute God. Blessed be her soul and peace be upon her. All other strains, though they are loved, as do parents who passively love their wayward children, they remain aberrations having become lost by their wonderings from the true path. Blessed be her soul and peace be upon her. Malamute Fundamentalists are ever hopeful that the others will find their way back home to the 'true' faith and are sometimes caught performing shocking behavior to prove their point. Blessed be her soul and peace be upon her.

Malamute Breeder Conservatism – Malamute Conservatives must be very selective in what they breed to, that is minimize negatives, maximize positives; be exclusionary rather than inclusive in choice of animals. It is better to remain within the bounds of their own kennel, as they know, perfectly and predictably, what to expect. Of course, this philosophy, while sounding pious and good, can be conveniently overruled by the chance at fame and fortune, real or imagined. This is where, knowingly, everything is risked by breeding to an externally beautiful animal. This animal, however, with
